THE PREPARATORY DEPARTMENT OF DISTANCE FORMAT PROGRAMS FOR FOREIGN CITIZENS OF THE FACULTY OF MEDICINE FOR FOREIGN STUDENTS

The preparatory department of distance format programs (remote) for foreign citizens conducts online education and prepares students for entrance exams for 1st year faculties (Faculty of General Medicine, Faculty of Dentistry, Faculty of Pediatrics) of First Pavlov State Medical University of Saint Petersburg, Russian Federation.

The studied subjects of the entrance exams are the Russian language, Chemistry, Biology.

Education at the distance pre-entrance program department for foreign citizens takes place from November 30th till June 1st. Foreign citizens with a complete secondary education, as well as students of the graduating classes of a secondary educational school, can enter the training. After enrolling in the preparatory department, students study subjects (Russian language, chemistry, biology) with teachers and professors of the University departments in small groups of 10–12 people, do homework, checkpoints are held in form of tests. At the end of the academic year (in June), students take final exams in the subjects, which they study, in the form of entrance exams for 1 course for foreign citizens – remotely online using a proctoring program (a special computer program, controlling the impossibility of using third-party Internet resources and incorrect behavior during the exam). Entrance examinations for foreign citizens to the faculties at the Pavlov University are held in the same remote online format, in case of the right to enter the places of citizens of the Russian Federation – only personally (offline).

After successfully passing the final exams, students receive a certificate on the completion of the distance preparatory department of Pavlov University. The final grades in the certificate are set by teachers, taking into account academic performance, milestones, attendance during training and passing final exams. Also, during the academic year, organizational online meetings are held with the participation of the Rector of Pavlov University, Academician of the Russian Academy of Sciences Professor S.F. Bagnenko. For students of the preparatory distance department, a group is created in one of the messengers, where you can always be in touch with the dean and get answers to your questions.
